For Immediate Release

The Belleville Area Museum is seeking loans or donations of Civil War Era items including letters, documents, objects/artifacts, clothing and pictures for an upcoming 2012 exhibit. The display seeks to honor Belleville Area Civil War veterans, portray the life of families on the home front, and examine the area's role in the Underground Railroad. Please contact Katie Dallos, director, Belleville Area Museum, 405 Main Street, 734-697-1944 or email at kdallos@provide.net.

As part of our 2012 Civil War Sesquicentennial Commemoration Series, the Belleville Area Museum and Historical Society will feature "Michigan in the Civil War," a lecture given by Michigan historians, Al and Dave Eicher, on April 21, as well as a genealogical workshop entitled "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," by Jana Sloan Broglin, director for the Federation of Genealogical Societies, on June 21. In addition, a reenactment and encampment will be held in Van Buren Park on October 5-7. Please stay tuned for more information, or find us on Facebook at Belleville Area Museum and Archives.
